FERTILIZE! FERTILIZE!

THE undersigned has obtained from the United States Letters Patent, dated March 26, 1872, for an

Improvement in Preparing Fertilizers

FROM EARTH, &C.,

which he desires to bring to the attention of the public, especially that portion engaged in farming. The new process, which is simply burning earth in a kiln, has been thoroughly tested and proven a full success. It is, besides, made of fertilizing land yet discovered. The kiln is constructed at small cost, and but little fuel is required to operate it. Every farmer should have this invaluable right. In these days of high prices for lime, guanos and phosphates, this improvement should be taken hold of by all who feel the need of fertilizing the soil.

THE CHEAPEST

Farm, Town-ship, County and State Rights are now offered for sale. For further information, address SAMUEL BROWN,

Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has Discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE,

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys or Bladder, Incontinence of Urine, Unnatural Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Spermatorrhœa, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote conubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and unfortunate votary of pleasure finds that he has inflicted the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or false pride deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone restore him to health and society. The fatal consequences of the horrid disease make their appearance, such as distorted nose, throat, skin, disfigurement of face, aches in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till finally the palate of the mouth or bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this vice presents a hideous object of commiseration till death puts a period to his miserable existence, by sending his spirit to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveler returns."

It has now been ascertained beyond a doubt that the terrible disease, through follies into the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRETENDERS, who, by their mode of treating it, poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month under the influence of noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of life, vigor and happiness, is doomed to drag a miserable existence, with ruined health to sight over his gulling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the Hospitals of the largest Hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, he is enabled to offer the most Certain Speedy, and Effectual Remedy in the World for all Diseases of Imprudence.

DR. JOHNSTON,

OFFICE No. 78, FREDERICK STREET,

1st house south of Baltimore street, on the left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Call not to observe name and number.

☞No fee required unless post-paid and containing a stamp, to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms.

There are so many Pretty, Designing and Worthless Impostors advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with the reputation he has established for Skill and Integrity, that he can be consulted with the strictest confidence, and that his Certificates or Diplomas always hang in his office.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS,

The many thousands cured at this Establishment, year after year, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the profession, lives and reputations of many other persons, no doubt of which have appeared again and again before the public, leaves his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

(PUBLICA, 1873.)

Which is not my style
To produce needless pain
By statements that rile,
Or that go 'gin the grain,

But he's Captain Jack still a livin', and Nye has no sheep on his brain!

On that Cucumsian head
There is no crown of hair,
It is gone, it has fled!
And Echo see "where?"

And I ask, "Is this Nation a White Man's; and is generally things on the square?"

She was known in the camp
As "Nye's other squaw,"
And folks of that stamp
Has no rights in the Law,

But is treacherous, sinful and slimy, as Nye might her well known before.

But she said that she know
Where the Injins was hid,
And the statement was true,
For it seemed that she did;

Since she led William where he was covered by Seven nice Modocs, and killed!

Then they reached for his hair;
But Nye cried, "By the Law
Of Nations, forbear!
I surrender—no more;

And I looks to be treated, you hear me!—as a prisoner, a prisoner of war!"

But Captain Jack rose
And he said, "It's too thin.
Such statements as those
It's too late to begin.

There's a Modoc indictment agin you, Old Patchess, and you're goin' in!"

"You stole Schonchin's squaw
In the year sixty-two;
It was in 'Sixty-Four
That Long Jack you went through.

And you burned Nasty Jim's rancheria and his wives and his pappooses too.

"This gun in my hand
Was sold me by you
'Gainst the law of the land,
And I grieves it is true!"

And he buried his face in his blanket and wept as he hid it from view.

"But you're tired and confounded,
And sleeping is your doom,"
And he paused and he beckoned—
Let why this resume?

He was skelped 'gainst the custom of nations, and ran off like a roe in its bloom.

So I asks without guile,
And I trust not in vain,
If this is the style
That is going to obtain—

If here is Captain Jack still a livin', and Nye with no sheep on his brain?

WHAT THE WINDS BRING.

Which is the wind that brings the cold?
The north-wind, Freddy, and all the snow;
And the sheep will scamper into the fold
When the north begins to blow.

Which is the wind that brings the heat?
The south-wind, Katy; and corn will grow,
And peaches ripen for you to eat,
When the south begins to blow.

Which is the wind that brings the rain?
The east-wind, Arty; and farmers know
That cows come shivering up the lane
When the east begins to blow.

Which is the wind that brings the flowers?
The west-wind, Posy; and soft and low
The bluebird sings in the summer bowers
When the west begins to blow.

POLISHED AND VARNISHED.

LENNOX RAY'S MISTAKE.

Lennox Ray sprang from the train just as the June sunshine was dropping down the west in a flood of golden glory, and the air was fragrant with the perfume of new mown hay, and dewy with the approaching twilight.

"Well, this is rather purer than London air," sighed Lennox, drawing a deep breath of delight as he hastened up the green lane to the wide, old-fashioned farm-house, carrying his valise in his hand. "I wonder if Mary got my note, and is looking for me? Hallo!"

The last exclamation was drawn from Mr. Ray's lips by a big ripe cherry, which, descending from above him, came into sudden contact with his nose. He looked up, and there, perched like a great bird upon the bough of a cherry tree, and looking down at him with dancing eyes and brilliant cheeks, was a young girl, pretty and willful enough to set a man crazy.

"How do, Lennox? Come up and have some cherries!" was the mischievous greeting, and saucy dimples playing about her ripe lips.

"Mary, is it possible?" exclaimed Lennox, serenely.

"What! that the cherries are ripe? Yes, and splendid, too. Have some?" returned the nymph, coolly holding out a great ruby cluster.

"Mary, will you come down from there?" said Mr. Ray, not seeming to notice the cherries.

"Yes, to be sure, now you've come, and I have had all the cherries I wanted."

And while Mr. Ray looked on in stern disapproval, the young witch swung herself lightly down from her perch and lit on the grass at his feet.

"Now don't look so serious, Lennox, dear," she said, slipping her little hands into his with a coaxing motion. "I know it's tom-boyish to climb the cherry trees, but then it's such fun."

"Mary, you should have been a boy," said Lennox.

"I wish I had! Then I wouldn't have everybody scolding me if I happened to move. No I don't, either, for then you wouldn't have fallen in love with me. What made you love me, anyway, my dear?" she said, with a fond glance and a caressing movement.

"Because you are a sweet darling," answered Mr. Ray, melted in spite of himself. "But I do wish, Mary, you would leave off these boydenish ways, and be more dignified."

"Like Miss Ishman?" asked Mary.

"Miss Ishman is a very superior woman, and it would not hurt you to copy her in some respects," said Lennox, coldly.

The tears sprang into Mary's eyes at his tone; she loosened her arms from his, and, dropping down on the emerald grass at his feet, began to braid a bracelet of the long blades in silence, with a grieved expression around her sweet mouth which he did not see.

"There!" cried Lennox, pettishly.—"Now you look more like a five-year-old baby than a well-bred young lady."

Mary threw away her bracelet and got up again.

"I didn't mean to vex you; shall we go in?" she said, sadly. They went into the parlor, and Mr. Ray took a seat in the great armchair, while Mary flung open the window and dropped down on her knees beside it, letting her glossy curls fall in a great shower on the window sill.

"Now, don't do that!" exclaimed Mr. Ray, drawing a chair near his own.—"Come here and sit down like a rational being."

"I wish you would put up these dyawny curls," said Mr. Ray. "And see here, Mary, I want to have a talk with you. You know I love you, but, in truth, my wife must have some of the elegance of refined society. Your manners need polish, my dear."

Mary reddened and her scarlet lips curled a little, but she said nothing.

"A few weeks in fashionable circles will be a great benefit to you, and I wish you to have the opportunity. In short, dear, I came down to tell you that my sister is making up a party to visit some watering place this summer, and I wish you to accept the invitation, Mary."

"Are you going?" asked Mary.

"Yes, my practice will not allow it. But I shall see you several times. You will go?"

"Oh, Lennox, don't make me!" sobbed Mary, hiding her face on his shoulders, as a vision of his stylish and haughty sister rose before her. "I don't want to go! I hate fashionable society! I don't want to be polished! I'd rather stay here in the country, and not wear any bonnet, and climb cherry trees every day."

"Mary," said he, one morning, when he found her alone, "how long is this to last?"

"How long is what to last?" asked Mary, innocently.

"How long are you going to remain the conventional creature you are?"

"I believe you wished me to come here and improve my manners, Mr. Ray; to acquire the elegance of society," she said, coldly.

"But, Mary,"

"Your sister thinks I have been an apt pupil."

"Yes, too apt; too apt entirely!" cried Lennox.

"Well, if you are not pleased with the result of your own advice, I am not to blame. You must excuse me, Mr. Ray, I am going to ride with Count de Beaurepaire."

And with her sweetest, hollowest smile, she made a graceful gesture of adieu, and left him sick at heart, puzzled and disgusted.

That afternoon, as Laura and Mary were about dressing for the evening, Lennox walked, unannounced, into Laura's little parlor, where they sat alone.

"I thought I'd drop in and say good-bye before you went down stairs," said he. "I leave for London to-night."

Laura elevated her eyebrows a little.

"Sudden, isn't it? But since you are going I will give you some commissions."

"You needn't. I shall only stay in town for a day."

"Indeed! Where are you going?"

"Oh, I don't know," was the savage reply.

Laura gave him a look of cool surprise.

"At least, you will take a note to George for me?"

"Yes, if you get it ready," said he ungraciously.

"Very well; I will write it now."

Laura went to her room. Lennox stood moodily at a window. Presently Mary, who had not spoken one word, came and stood near him.

"Are you really going away?" she asked.

"Yes, I am," was the short answer.

"And won't you tell me where?"

"I don't know myself neither know nor care," he growled.

She slipped her hand into his arm with the old caressing movement he remembered so well, and spoke so gently, using his name for the first time since he came.

"But, Lennox, dear, if you go away off somewhere, what shall I do?"

He turned suddenly and caught her to his heart.

"Oh, Mary, Mary!" cried he, passionately, "if you would only come back to me and love me; if I could recover my lost treasure I would not go anywhere. Oh, my lost love, is it too late?"

She laid her face down against his shoulder and asked:

"Lennox, dear, tell me which you love best, the Mary whom you used to know, or the fashionable young lady you found here?"

"Oh, Mary darling!" he cried, clasping her closer, "I wouldn't give one precious tress of your old brown curls for all the fashionable young ladies in the world. I wouldn't give one careless ring of your merry laugh for all the polished ladies in society. I wouldn't."

Mary laid her arms caressing around his neck, and said softly, "Then I think you will have to take your old Mary back again, and put her and love her as you used to do, for I am sick and tired of the fashionable young lady as you can be, Lennox, dear."

And Lennox, passionately clasping her to him, begged to be forgiven, and vowed he would not exchange his precious little wild rose for all the hothouse flowers in Christendom.

"Laura!" Lennox called, tapping on Laura's door a little later.

"Well," answered Laura.

"You needn't write your note. I shan't go to town to-night."

"Lennox, I never saw such a fellow for fancies," cried Laura. "Are you crazy?"

"No, I have been, but I am coming to my senses," said Lennox.

Lennox and Mary have been sedate married people many years, but I never heard that Lennox complained in the least of his wife's want of conventionality, or even wished to pursue the acquaintance of the fashionable lady whom he met at Scarborough.

REPORTS come from Washington to the effect that several weeks since Ben. Butler bought a large tract of land just outside the northern limits of the city. The tract consisted of three hundred acres, the price paid being about one thousand dollars per acre. Land in that vicinity not being in demand, it was generally considered that Butler had made a bad investment. It now

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18, 1873.

At the late charter election in New London, Connecticut, the Democrats swept the field and captured the city government. A good sign.

One Griswold, of Baltimore, a major in the rebel service during the late war, has been appointed a Special Agent in the Post-office Department. The Mosby branch of the Republican party is the most lucky, if not the most loyal.

While Congressmen who voted for the salary "swag" received only five thousand dollars extra, Grant, for his signature to the bill, gets one hundred thousand dollars extra—twenty times as much! Now who is the biggest grabber?

Stokes.—The Court of Appeals of New York, by a unanimous decision, has over-ruled the Supreme Court, and directed another trial of Stokes, the Fisk murderer. His counsel express much confidence in their ability to clear him.

The court journals announce the safe arrival of Grant at Long Branch, with his full blooded horses, a cow and three dogs, and express quite unnecessarily the hope that he may enjoy his vacation. He has already spent more time in recreation than all the Presidents from Washington to Lincoln put together, and draws double salary.

It now turns out—and how it could well turn out otherwise we cannot see—that the State of South Carolina has been robbed of $7,000,000, by the set of Northern and domestic thieves who have been mismanaging there since the war. The money is clean gone and nothing to show for it. Louisiana will be in a worse condition by the time that Kellogg and Casey are done with it.

The Hon. John J. Perry, of Maine, has refused a nomination for State Senator on the Republican ticket, for the reason that he has about made up his mind to cease voting that ticket. He declares it to be his opinion that the time has gone by when political capital can be manufactured out of the slavery question or any of its collateral issues, and that the Republican organization can be no longer used as an agency to gratify the lusts of wire-pullers for office and spoil, or be made a "mutual admiration society" for the benefit of political rings or political combinations.

Another Congressional scandal and disgrace is thus hinted at by the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, which says: "It is privately stated here that a lawsuit which has just been commenced in the District Courts by the estate of the late cashier of the First National Bank, against a corporation known here as the Metropolitan Paving Company, will develop more food for scandal, so far as public officials are concerned, than did the Credit Mobilier suits instigated by McComb. The story goes that any number of Congressmen, besides higher game, had contracts from this concern and dealings with the above bank in this connection, which will do anything but add to their present reputations."

The N. Y. Sun, in reviewing the existing political situation, takes a hopeful view of the elections next fall.

The whole situation (the editor thinks) is favorable for such a result—far more so, indeed, than at any time since 1869. Superadded to these causes of deserved dissatisfaction, the conduct of the President in deserting the post of duty, in junketing about the country, bringing scandal upon the great office which he holds but does not fill, and his unworthy part in doubling his own salary after his second election, have made a lodgment in the public mind not to be removed by cheap professions, and produced a reaction against Gen. Grant which will not soon be arrested. He has outlived his popularity, and worse than that, forfeited the confidence and respect of his party. Selfishness, avarice, nepotism and intemperance, have been followed by their natural consequences.

County Convention.—The Democratic Delegate Elections will be held next Saturday, and the County Convention on Monday. There is abundant material from which to select an unexceptionable and popular ticket, and it is to be hoped that in electing Delegates our party friends in every district will have an eye single to the good of the cause and send their best and most judicious men. We have a watchful and wily enemy to contend with in this county, but whose sole dependence rests upon Democratic blunders. Let the Convention next Monday address itself to the work before it with due calmness and deliberation, that all mistakes may be avoided, and a handsome victory at the polls crown the nominations.

Virginia place-hunters are troubled at the recent federal appointments in Virginia, which have given great dissatisfaction to a large number of Republicans of that State. They assert that the patronage of the administration is being distributed to please a few individuals, and not with any regard to advancing the interests of the whole party, which is looked upon as rather remarkable in view of the importance of the approaching campaign. The element known as carpet-baggers object most strenuously to some of the appointments of ex-confederates which have been made, and the colored element, which constitutes the bulk of the voters, complain bitterly that their claims are almost entirely overlooked. Colonel Mosby, it is thought, has entirely too much influence with the administration, and it is said that although he is a Grant man he has never as yet positively announced himself as a member of the Republican party.

One of the worst things done among the many bad things perpetrated by the disreputable 42d Congress was the unfair legislation to favor the city papers at the expense of the country press. They enacted that the city publisher can send his paper (worthlessly made up in many cases from old matter in dailies) a thousand miles at the same cost of postage that a country publisher can send his paper one mile. This unjust discrimination, says the Lebanon Courier, is something that such would-be monopolies as the N. Y. Times have long been struggling for, but no Congress was ever base enough to gratify them until the 42d became infamous through its Credit Mobilier, extra-pay and other guilty transactions, and probably adopted the unfair postage legislation on the ground that nothing it could do would make it more obnoxious to the public. There is no doubt the large city concerns would pay liberally for just such legislation as they obtained, and it is not at all improbable that a searching investigation would show that some honorable gentlemen nicely feathered their nests for engineering the outrage on country publishers. Will the 43d Congress correct these wrongs? We shall see.

WASHINGTON SALARIES.

The New York Sun—Dana's paper—which, though Republican, has independence enough to denounce what it believes wrong, no matter where the responsibility may rest, has to say about salaries at Washington, this:

In 1860 the total amount of salaries of officers in all the executive departments of the civil service at Washington amounted to $809,501.67. The salaries for this service in the calendar year of 1872 were $3,598,978.35, or an increase of $2,789,113.68! And this statement does not cover the large amount paid for temporary service, which has really become a regular charge on a grand scale. The pay of the navy and army has also been immensely increased in various ways, and is not included. A dozen or more Admirals are kept on ornamental duty at the capital, with a crowd of embroidered donothings, whose monthly function is to draw large incomes.

This prodigality is made more odious by the condition of the country and its material interests. The purchasing power of to-day, as compared with ten, eight, six, or even four years ago, when the old salaries prevailed, is vastly increased, and the cost of living is declining. Consequently there was no decent pretext even for the change. Agriculture is suffering, labor is inadequately rewarded, taxes are grinding, and there is fear of financial commotion. Yet such a time is chosen to pile millions of new burdens on a people who are already carrying a load which tries all their strength.

The responsibility for this reckless waste and venality rests with the Republican party. They controlled both houses of congress. They initiated, advocated, adopted, and appropriated the increased pay. Every corrupt job is traced to their doors. They held possession of every committee and avenue to legislation. There is no escape for them. Gen. Hawley, of Connecticut, justly described the situation in the following language: "I want to say, because I believe it, that these gentlemen here who profess to belong to the dominant political party, and are supporting this proposition, are digging the grave of that party.

"I do not care what party may come afterward, we cannot, in my opinion, have one worse than a party which, six months after the most ardent professions of economy, begins in the last few hours of a session the work of raising in this House the salaries of its members, so that we may put in our pockets five or six thousand dollars which we never dreamed of having until two or three weeks ago."

"There will be but two parties, and we expect our Liberal Republican friends to be with us and for us, in hearty co-operation."—Gov. Noyes in his speech at the late "Republican" State Convention of Ohio.

Not a man of them. When the Liberal Republicans left the old organization they burned the bridges behind them. They believed they were right then, and subsequent events have made them sure of it. Even suspicions have grown into convictions by the revelations of the last six months.

Every charge we made during the Presidential campaign has been proved true. We were called liars, slanderers, sore-heads, and every other vile epithet which could be thought of, and by no one oftener than by Gov. Noyes; and now, after full vindication, we are invited to turn back and support the man who abused us most.

"Not if the court understands itself, and it thinks it does."—Ohio Liberal.

Senator Carpenter, the Radical Boanerges of the Senate and who was chairman of the committee to investigate the Louisiana case, recently visited New Orleans, and made an address in exposition Hall, which was crowded. During Senator Carpenter's speech he was loudly applauded. He said in speaking of the committee that "we all were satisfied that if the election had really elected anybody, McEnery was elected." He declared emphatically that Kellogg never was elected, and Judge Durell's decision was outrageous, but advises that the citizens of Louisiana keep the peace until Congress reassembles. After such admissions and statements of leading Radicals, by what show of right does President Grant use the Government troops to keep a usurper in power, and rob the people of taxes to support a bogus and illegal State government?

It is an incontestable fact that a majority of the white citizens of the United States are Democrats. The returns of the last Presidential election prove it. The negro vote of the country is considerably larger than Grant's popular majority; and if the disgusted Democrats who sullenly refused to support Mr. Greeley had come to the polls, the result of the white vote would have been still more striking and instructive. To say that a political party which has the confidence of a majority of the white voters is irredeemably unpopular and has fallen so low that it can never expect to rise, is a silly extravagance which Democrats laugh to scorn.—N. Y. World.

The appointment of Mr. Bingham to the Japan mission does not fill the Administration journals of Ohio with admiration. On the contrary, there is a vigorous display of indignation on the part of most of them. The Toledo Blade says: "The Republican party doesn't want any Credit Mobilier or back pay plastered upon it in any way, shape, or manner. The appointment of Mr. Bingham, after the action of the Republican State Convention, might better have been indefinitely postponed." And the Akron Beacon follows in the same strain: "The Republicans will not thank Grant for this appointment. Next to Butler himself, Bingham is especially responsible for all the infamy of the salary grab, and this is not the time to reward his unfaithfulness with promotion."

The new Oregon Senator, Mr. Mitchell, has trouble. Some years since he was a resident of Butler county, in this State, where he wasn't comfortable either financially or matrimonially. He left that place, deserting his wife, and finally turned up in Oregon with a slight change of name. When he left Butler county his name was John Mitchell Hipple, and when he got to Oregon it became John Hipple Mitchell. In Oregon he had better luck than in Pennsylvania, and was recently chosen by the Radicals to the United States Senate. Since that event the discovery of the change of name has been made, and a sensation resulted.

The National Publishing Company, Philadelphia, has in press and will soon issue "The Undeveloped West, or, Five Years in the Territories," being a description of that vast region between the Mississipi and Pacific; its resources, climate, inhabitants, natural curiosities, etc.; life and adventure on the prairies, mountains and Pacific coast—with 244 fine illustrations, from original sketches and photographic views, of the scenery, cities, lands, mines, people and curiosities of the great West. By J. H. Beadle, Western Correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, and author of "Life in Utah," etc. It promises to be a work of surpassing interest.

Counterfeit ten cent notes have been put in circulation in New York. The bogus note is said to be so like the genuine article that it requires the closest examination and inspection to tell one from the other.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Philadelphia, June 13, 1873.

Dear Compiler:—I regret that my letter of last week occupied so much of your space. If your readers desire to have a full account of the most important proceedings of this body, they certainly can so inform themselves by the details of my letters, and I hope the opportunity afforded of considering constitutional questions may be improved by many of them.

The article on the Legislature, upon the adjournment on Friday, the 6th inst., was ordered to be taken up on the following Monday, which was accordingly done. Biennial elections for members of the General Assembly, after being supported by Mr. Bigler and others, are retained, an amendment proposing annual having 34 yeas to 51 nays, your delegates who were present, Messrs. McClean and Cochran, voting nay. Senators are to be elected for the term of four years, Representatives for two—on motion of Mr. Cochran—after the year 1878, they shall hold no special or adjourned annual session unless specially convened by the Governor, and on motion of Mr. Buckalew, in case of a casual vacancy in the office of U. S. Senator in a recess between sessions, they shall be convened by proclamation to fill the same. Every member before he enters on his official duties, shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation that, among other things he has not paid or contributed anything, or made any promise in the nature of a bribe to corruptly influence directly or indirectly any vote at the election, and that he will not accept or receive directly or indirectly any money or valuable thing from any corporation, company or person for any vote or influence he may give or withhold. The oath is to be administered by a Supreme or President Judge, and any member convicted of having sworn falsely to or of having violated his oath, shall forfeit his office and be disqualified thereafter from holding any office of profit or trust in this State. Members shall receive no compensation for services as a member of any committee or anything but the salary and mileage for regular and special sessions as shall be fixed by law. No member shall, during his term, receive any increase of salary or mileage under any law passed during such period.

The mode of constituting the Senate and House giving rise to a variety of plans, the convention resolved itself again into committee of the whole, and after some discussion and providing for the printing of the various propositions, went out of committee. The article on impeachment was next considered. In addition to the article in the Constitution of 1838, it provides, as agreed to, that all officers shall hold their offices only on the condition that they behave themselves well while in office, and shall be removed on conviction of misbehavior in office or of any infamous crime, and all officers elected by the people, except Governor, Lieut. Governor, members of the General Assembly, and Judges of the Courts, shall be removed by the Governor for reasonable cause after due notice and full hearing on the address of two-thirds of the Senate.

The article on counties, &c., was also considered. After various amendments and protracted discussion, the article was limited as follows; that no new county shall be established which shall reduce any county to less than 400 square miles nor less than 20,000 inhabitants, nor shall any county be formed of less area nor containing a less population, nor shall any line thereof pass within ten miles of the county seat of any county proposed to be divided.

I might add that Mr. Buckalew presented a proposition for the election of three county commissions and auditors in 1875, under the provisions already adopted, the terms of said officers then pending to expire, and after the said year the office of jury commissioner shall be abolished and the duty of selecting names for jury lists to be vested in the county commissioners.

Hon. Edgar Cowan having declined the appointment to the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of B. F. Gowen, Esq., John C. Bullit, Esq., of Philadelphia, has been substituted. The Convention approaching the conclusion of its work, it is not a very desirable position to enter it as this stage.

Permit me while I think of it, to correct a typographical error in my letter of last week. The power to change the venue (not issue) in civil and criminal cases is vested in the courts. Excuse the bad chirography which was the cause of it.

After numerous amendments and a very interesting discussion running through several days, the difficult question of legislative apportionment was disposed of as follows, being the minority report of Mr. D. N. White, of Allegheny, as amended:

The State shall be divided into fifty Senatorial districts of compact and contiguous territory as equal in population as possible and each district shall be entitled to elect one Senator. No county shall be divided in the formation of a district unless such county is entitled to two or more members by possession of population exceeding one senatorial ratio and three-fifths of a second ratio.

The House of Representatives shall consist of not less than one hundred and fifty-two members to be apportioned and distributed to the counties of the State severally in proportion to the population on a ratio of 25,000 inhabitants to each member, except that no county shall have less that one member, and the city of Philadelphia, or any county having an excess of three-fifths of said ratio over one or more ratios, shall be entitled to an additional member. In case the number of 152 members is not reached by the above apportionment, counties having the largest surplus over one or more ratio, shall be entitled to one additional member until the number of 152 members is arrived at.

As soon as this Constitution is adopted the Legislature shall apportion the State in accordance with the provisions of the two preceding sections; counties and the city of Philadelphia, entitled to more than one member, shall be divided into single districts of compact and contiguous territory as nearly equal in population as possible, but no township or ward, except in the city of Philadelphia, to be divided in the formation of a district, provided, that in making said apportionment for the House of Representatives in the year 1881, and every ten years thereafter, there shall be added to the ratio 500 for each increase of 75,000 inhabitants.

An attempt well planned, and ably sustained in the discussion by Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Buckalew, Judge Woodward, Gov. Curtin and others, to choose the Senate by a vote of the electors of the State at large, and on the limited vote system, was unsuccessful.

The Convention will be off to-morrow (Saturday) on an excursion to Cape May.

More Anon.

It is reported that an effort will be made by the Indian Peace Commissioners to prevent the punishment of Captain Jack and his guilty associates.

Corpus Christi.—This festival was observed at Conewago Chapel on Thursday last, with the usual religious ceremonies, which are always attractive and impressive. The procession moved at 9 o'clock, and after benediction at the four altars outside, the services closed with high mass and a sermon in the church. The assemblage was large, though it has been exceeded in former years.

St. Ignatius congregation, in Buchanan Valley, has been detached from the Gettysburg mission of the Catholic church, and connected with the Chambersburg mission. Rev. Mr. Bolt is thus enabled to have service at Gettysburg three Sundays in a month, (the fourth at Fairfield.) The church in Buchanan Valley will likely have service twice a month.

A large attendance at the Tournament here on the Fourth is confidently expected. Every quarter of the county will of course be represented, whilst all the surrounding counties will turn out their scores and fifties. Frederick and vicinity, with intermediate points, will come on an excursion train, leaving Frederick in the morning and returning in the evening.

The Commencement Exercises at Mt. St. Mary's College and St. Joseph's Seminary will be unusually interesting and attractive this year. The first occurs on Wednesday, the 25th instant, and at St. Joseph's House on Thursday, the 26th instant. A large number of strangers from a distance will be present. Exhibition Hall, the finest and largest room in the State outside of Baltimore, will be elegantly arranged for the occasion—says the Mechanicstown Clarion.

R. R.—We see it stated that the sum of $18,000 has been subscribed towards the extension of the Peachbottom Railroad to East Berlin, in this county, and that with $7,000 more the company will put the road under contract. It is hoped that the amount yet needed will be promptly subscribed, that this important work may go forward, and the town of Berlin and the entire region to be traversed may at an early day enjoy the many advantages of railroad communication with the rest of the world.

Horse Thief Arrested.—A horse thief, giving his name as Harrison Robinson, was overhauled by Detective Rouzer at Littlestown on Friday last, and brought to this place. Robinson had offered the animal, a sorrel mare, for sale here, and failing to sell, proceeded toward Baltimore. Mr. Rouzer, always keen on the scent of a thief, suspecting something wrong, started on the trail, and at Littlestown made the arrest. A telegram to Hagerstown brought Mr. Stanhope, of the Washington House, the owner of the mare, who stated that she had been stolen from a pasture field on his farm, two miles from Hagerstown, and, praying property, took her home with him. The thief is still in jail, but will doubtless soon be removed to Hagerstown on a Governor's requisition. He has confessed the stealing of the mare to Sheriff Hersh, and from a diary now in Detective Rouzer's possession we infer his name to be Miller, and that he hails from Bedford county, in this State.

Fire near Hampton.—We hear that on Wednesday night last, the large two-story wagonmaker shop of Mr. Emanuel Neidich, a short distance from Hampton, this county, was destroyed by fire, with all his tools and lumber, the wood work of seven new wagons, a reaper undergoing repairs, (property of Mr. Thos. N. Dicks,) with other work in the building.

The origin of the fire is not known. When discovered, after midnight, the shop was enveloped in flames, the roof about falling in. The loss must be quite heavy, on which, we learn, there is a small insurance. The tools were worth between three and four hundred dollars. About 1,500 feet of plank and boards were placed on the loft only the day before, and all burned. Indeed, the only property saved consisted of half a dozen wheels.

County Medical Society.—A number of the Physicians of Adams county met in the Arbitration Room, Gettysburg, on Saturday, June 14, for the purpose of forming a County Medical Society. A temporary organization was made with Dr. A. Dolle as President, Dr. R. B. Elderdice Secretary and Dr. J. L. Bachr Treasurer.

A committee of six, viz: Drs. R. Horner, J. W. C. O'Neal, C. Thompson, J. L. Bachr, W. J. McClure and R. B. Elderdice, was appointed to draft a constitution. The convention adjourned to meet at the same place on Monday, June 23, 1873, at 10 o'clock, A. M., when the attendance of all the Physicians of the county is earnestly requested.

The Democrats of Franklin county have nominated: Assembly, George W. Welsh; Treasurer, Hiram M White; Commissioner, Wm. D. Guthrie; Director, J. H. McCullough; Auditor, D. B. Russell; Jury Commissioner, John Gilbert; Coroner, Dr. Wm. P. Noble.

The Republicans of the same county have nominated: Assembly, Wm. H. Mackey; Treasurer, Jere. Cook; Commissioner, Hez. Keefer; Director, Amos Stouffer; Jury Commissioner, A. H. Etter; Auditor, W. D. Dixon; Coroner, Dr. H. G. Chritzman.

It is reported, says a Hanover paper, that the family of Mr. John Etter, the unfortunate brakeman killed on the Hanover Branch Railroad, intend bringing suit against the Caufman Iron Ore Company for damages, claiming that his death is attributable to the fact that their schute which projects over the railroad track, is not sufficiently high to allow of safe passage to train employees. We have not learned what amount the damages will be laid at.

Bank Stock Sale.—Seventeen shares of Gettysburg National Bank stock (belonging to the estate of Mary Knox, deceased, of Maryland,) were sold at public outcry, at the Banking House, in this place, on Tuesday, as follows: D. Kendlehart, four shares, at $80.25 each; George Weaver eight shares at $80.50 each; G. G. Benner four shares at $80.50 each; and James J. Wills one share at $81. Par $50.

The large new barn of Dr. Borman, at White Hall, Cumberland county, was destroyed by fire week before last, with hay, grain, buggies, carriage, &c. Loss $4,000; insurance $2,000. It is supposed to have caught through soap-boiling by the women within a hundred feet of the building—a spark lodging in the hay-mow.

The State Editorial Association will convene at Danville, Montour county, on Monday next, and spend the succeeding three or four days in the coal regions, taking in Wilkesbarre, Scranton and Mauch Chunk. The editor of this paper expects to be in attendance.

Preparations are being made for the immediate erection of a large brick store and ware house with slate roof, in place of the wooden one destroyed recently by fire at Seven Valley. The brick residence of Mr. Henry Bott will also be rebuilt shortly.

Adjusted.—The agents of the insurance companies have adjusted Mr. Henry Bott's loss, in the Seven Valley fire, paying him $2925. His loss over that amount is $2500.

Mr. Geist's loss in storm goods was adjusted at $1000.

Sold.—Sixteen shares of the Hanover Saving Fund Society and two shares of the Hanover Branch railroad, the property of Mr. John Musselmann, deceased, late of Fairfield, Adams co., were sold on Saturday afternoon last at public auction, at the Diller House in this place. Mr. Edward Kahn, of this borough, purchased the two shares of railroad stock at $76 per share. Par value $50.

Six shares of the Hanover Saving Fund Society were sold to Mr. John W. Hoffacker, of West Manheim township, at $20 10 per share; and Mr. W. Grumbine, of this place, bought ten shares at $26 50 per share. Par value $10.—[Hanover Citizen.

Wild Turkeys.—A couple of weeks since a gentleman came upon a wild turkey hen on the South Mountain, not far from the Gate House, with 18 or 20 young turkeys. He succeeded in capturing seven of the number. He took them home and put them under his tame turkeys. If he succeeds in raising them it is doubtful whether he will be able to prevent them returning to their naturally wild haunts. A few years since a nest of eggs was discovered on the South Mountain. The eggs were taken to the settlement and hatched out by a tame turkey, but as soon as large enough they took to the mountain and the owner failed to recover a single one of the flock.—[Waynesboro' Record.

The Steelton, Tyrone and Mountpleasant Sunday School District Convention met in St. Luke's Church, on Saturday, June 7th, at 1½ o'clock, P. M. Convention opened with prayer by President J. F. Felty; A. H. Parr elected Secretary. Address of welcome by George A. Weikert; Reports of the Superintendents of St. Luke's, White Hall, Union, Salem, Mount Vernon, Hunterstown, Rocky Grove, Fairview and Granite Rock Sunday Schools, representing them in good condition. Questions: Sabbath Schools as a means of improving society; the preacher's work in the Sabbath School; importance of Sunday School instruction; the work of Superintendents of Sabbath Schools; importance of parents' influence in Sunday Schools; the Sunday School teacher's responsibility; the duty of Sunday Schools to Foreign Missions, and the importance of Sunday School Conventions—were ably discussed by Messrs. J. A. Wirt, F. W. Stahle, C. G. Miller, John Hersh, T. C. Sanderson, J. S. Lowers, John F. Felty, and J. W. Buehman, Sunday School Missionary for York and Adams counties. The discussions were frequently interspersed with vocal music. After prayer and singing of doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," the Convention adjourned, failing to select the place for holding the next Convention.

Barbarous.—Did you ever drop into a barber shop for a shave, on a Saturday evening, and find half a dozen customers ahead of you? You count the time it will take to get round, look at the clock and find you have half an hour till supper time; consider you "won't wait" and turn to go. The "boss" insists on your staying, as there are only four ahead—not counting those who just took the chairs. Reluctantly dropping into a seat you scan an old newspaper till you think your time is at hand, when looking up you discover the last four are there for a double purpose—to be shaved and to get their hair cut—and perhaps with a shampoo thrown in. Visions of a cold supper and waiting family rise up before you; a break is made for the door, a promise to "be back after while" is hissed through your teeth, and not till you are safely out of hearing, you damn the fools who wait all week and till the last hour on Saturday for a "clip." In about an hour you sneak back to find the chances about as good as before, and with Christian resignation wait till the last "next" is called, when meekly taking the chair you utter no word, but tamely submit to the scraping ordeal. Saturday night hair-cutting is a nuisance, and as such should be abated.—[Chambersburg Opinion.

Grain Cradles.—Improved Greenmarsh Grain Cradles, manufactured by E. W. Fuss, for sale by Raphael Shirey, Je 18. 3t 2 miles south of Gettysburg.

A Great Horror Done Away With.—House cleaning is a great horror to nine men out of every ten. When that time comes the "men folks," as a rule, give the domestic hearth a "wide berth." Oceans of suds—the product of tons of soap—fairly flood every part of the house. The women, from the mistress down, labor as they never worked before, and what with the discomfort, the smell of suds and the dampness, and not unfrequently sickness, the product of colds and overwork, matters are generally disagreeable. The simple use of Sapolio instead of soap does away with all this discomfort. It lightens the labor a hundred per cent., because it removes dirt, grease, stains and spots, with hardly any labor, with but little water, and in one tenth the usual time. June 18. 2w

THANKS.—Hon. Richard J. Haldeman has our thanks for the Congressional Globe and Appendix.

THE Memphis Appeal says the Radical Congressmen who recently visited New Orleans, are free in their expressions of opinion that Durell and Kellogg are political scoundrels of the worst type, who ought to be removed from office.

THE District of Columbia ring, headed by Boss Shepherd, have spent or stolen upward of ten millions of dollars received by them from the federal treasury during the last eighteen months, and now the government of the District is utterly insolvent.

AT Steubenville, Ohio, last week, at the house of a miner named George Edmonds, a can of gunpowder, weighing 25 pounds, exploded, killing three children and fatally wounding another. The can had been placed in a cupboard and in the absence of their parents the children set fire to it.

CAPTAIN JACK and Schonchin are ironed together and confined. The last of the Modocs have been found on an island in Little Klamath Lake and are to be surrendered.

And now what is to be done with the Modocs—law are they to be tried and disposed of—is the perplexing question. Try them by courts and juries, and if guilty hang them, say we. The reds (and blacks) should have no more rights and privileges than the whites.

THE Washington Chronicle, though Republican, says of some of Grant's appointees:

The treasury officials who recently made a tour among the Southern revenue-houses for the purpose of applying the civil service rules thereto, found some of the collectors incompetent to discharge the duties in many respects, and in the case of the collector at Jacksonville, Fla., they have reported to the Secretary of the Treasury that the said collector can neither read nor write, and had formerly been convicted of a criminal charge.

THE writing desk of Captain Hall, of the Polaris, which was committed by that other shortly before his death to the care of the Esquimaux, Joe, with instructions that in case he (Hall) should die, to deliver it to Secretary Robeson, was brought safely to Washington, and is now in the possession of the Secretary. Joe executed the charge in a most faithful manner. The desk contains Captain Hall's official papers, which are considered an invaluable link in the history of the expedition.

THE PEACH CROP.—A New York Times correspondent, writing from the Delaware peach country, says that he finds promise of a most abundant crop from every quarter, except New Castle county; not only peaches, but other fruits. The strawberry district is 120 miles long. He thinks the coming peach crop will yield 3,570,000 baskets. There will be a deficiency in New Castle county, as compared with last year, of 1,000,000 baskets, but this is more than made up by the increase in two other counties, while in Maryland there is a much larger supply promised than last season.

PETER H. CLARK, a colored orator of Cincinnati, is on a fair way of being kicked out of the loyal church. To a recent meeting of negroes he said:

"I am not vindictive in my feelings toward the men of the rebellion. I was an early advocate of amnesty. I agree with the magnanimous Sumner, and would not ask a Southerner to enlist under a flag which bears on its folds the names of battles in which he met with humiliation and defeat. I would build the monuments which mark our battlefields with the South of wood, that, when they have fallen into decay, the memory of the strife may decay with them."

THE CALIFORNIANS AND THE CHINESE.—The war of races continues unabated in California, the San Francisco Board of Supervision having resolved to pass an ordinance levying a tax of $15 per capita on Chinese laundrymen; cutting off the pig-tails of any who may be sentenced to the county jail, and forbidding the removal of dead bodies to China. These appear to be very arbitrary measures; but as they are evidently intended not so much to promote the peace, prosperity, and health of San Francisco as to make it unpalatable to the heathen, they will doubtless accomplish their intention, for it appears that six of the Chinese companies have telegraphed to Hong Kong advising a cessation of emigration to San Francisco.

THE suit of Mrs. Eliza Goss against the New York Mutual Insurance company, which has been on trial at Baltimore for some time past, has resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $15,000, the amount of the policy on the life of her husband. The case is a very remarkable one. Goss was a young mechanic who earned not to exceed $15 per week. Nevertheless he insured his life for $20,000 in four different companies. Soon after his shop was burned, and his mutilated body was found in the ashes. On the day previous to this Goss went to a bank, where he had a small deposit, and drew it out. The insurance companies regarded the circumstances as suspicious, and determined to refuse payment, predicating their defense on the theory that the body found in the ruins of the burnt shop was not that of Goss, and that the whole affair was a conspiracy to defraud the companies. The trial lasted ten days, and resulted, as above stated, in a verdict for the widow.

TO CAN STRAWBERRIES.—The following rule is said never to fail: Heat slowly to boiling in a large kettle. As they commence boiling add sugar in proportion of one tablespoonful to each quart of fruit. Before doing this, however, if there is too much juice in the kettle, dip out some of it, as it will be of no advantage to you. Allow the berries to be almost dry before adding the sugar—the latter will make sufficient syrup. Boil fifteen minutes and then can.

THE Norwich (Conn.) Lock Company makes 1,200 locks per day. One of their recent inventions is a lock so constructed as to admit 700 changes, and requiring a key for each change. Yet a "master" key is made which will unlock the whole.

A FRIEND in California writes us that they have fireflies so large in that state that they use them to cook by. They hang the kettles on their hind leg, which are bent for the purpose, like potlooks.

THE FARMER.

THE BUCKWHEAT CROP.

A writer from Bucks county, in speaking of the buckwheat crop, which there is time to sow yet, makes the following sensible and judicious remarks:

"Many farmers entertain the opinion that buckwheat is a very exhaustive crop. Such is not the case, for it is a well known fact that buckwheat has been raised on land for thirty years consecutively without manures or fertilizers of any kind, other than the straw upon which the crop grew returned to the soil; and after such a long continued growth of buckwheat, the land produced with proper cultivation crops of wheat, corn and clover. Buckwheat would be one of the most valuable crops on thin land, if cultivated in a rotation with other crops and treated with a due proportion of manure; but it is considered a mean crop, and other pet crops of much less profit and value get all the manure and good attention.

"I dare say more hog or cow feed can be obtained from thin, poor land, by raising a crop of buckwheat, than from any other grain, that is, by fair culture. As much as sixty bushels are known to have been raised from a single peck of seed sown, and on land that would not yield ten bushels of wheat to the acre, or twenty of corn. Buckwheat should be sown very thin on rich land, almost as thin as corn is planted. It is a crop that will branch out very much, the stalks growing in imitation of young trees, the laternal branches producing more abundantly than if sown thick and the crop grown on the top of the stalks.

"The buckwheat plant is the readiest and cheapest vegetable known to plow under green as a fertilizer and pulverizer of rough land; and it stands unrivalled for subduing noxious weeds, when sown successively for several crops. Timothy seed [or clover] will make a successful growth among buckwheat if the seed be rolled early in the morning while the earth is damp with dew.

"If the many farmers who feel a prejudice against buckwheat on account of the reputation of its making the land poor, would give the crop a fair trial with other farm crops in regular rotation, they would find it a great advantage in the way of having a plentiful supply of nutritious food, well adapted to the fattening of swine and other stock."

STACKS VS. BARNS.

A correspondent of the American Agriculturist says:

We in America are very proud of our large barns, and I have always been in the habit of patting myself on the back over what I consider a very good one at Ogden farm. I was surprised at first to see an almost entire absence of barns for storing hay and grain in England where rain probably falls on twice as many days in the year as it does with us. The more I saw and thought about it, however, the more I came to the conclusion that there is much to be said on their side of the question. They save the cost, and it is a very considerably cost, of building hay barns. Their stocks are far enough apart for the rest to be saved if one takes fire. They are very handsomely made, placed on wooden or iron frames about two feet above the ground, are considerably larger at the top than at the bottom, and are nicely thatched with wheat straw. Some are round and some are square. I saw in one instance a very handsomely made and well thatched stack of hay containing over one hundred tons, and at Earl of Warwick's Sewage Farm there was a row of twenty-two stacks containing each about five hundred dollars worth of wheat, all so well built and closely thatched that they might stand there for ten years without the least danger. Whether the stacking of hay in England accounts for its superior quality I do not know, but although the last season was an unfavorable one, it seemed to me that all the hay that I had occasion to observe was better than we usually see at home, greener and more savory. Owing to the projecting top and thatch of the stack, there seemed no appreciable injury to the hay from weathering.

BONES AS A FERTILIZER.

The great chemist Voelcker says:

The different kinds of bone-dust vary much in their solubility and practical efficacy as manures.

Bone-dust made from solid bones, even when reduced to a fine powder, is less soluble in water and acts more slowly on vegetation than much coarser bone dust made from porous or spongy bones.

Fresh bones impregnated with grease do not readily enter into decomposition, and are less valuable as a manure than bones from which most of the fat has been removed by boiling in an open copper.

Fat or bone-grease has no fertilizing value whatever, and as it retards the solution of bone dust in water, it is decidedly an objectionable constituent of fresh bones, as far as the agriculturist is concerned.

Water dissolves much more phosphate of lime from rotten than fresh bones.

During the putrefaction of bones, soluble nitro genous organic compounds and ammoniacal salts are produced from the gelatine contained in bones. These compounds act powerfully and quickly as fertilizing constituents, and are indirectly useful in greatly enhancing the solubility of bone-phosphates in water.

Bone-dust, kept in a heap for a period of three or four months, heats and becomes more effacious, as a manure, than bone-dust applied to the land fresh from the mill.

ENGLISH FARMING AND AMERICAN.

Mr. Wall, in an address to the farmers of New Jersey, alluded to the fact that in England, in less than a century, the production of wheat had risen from 16,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels. This enormous increase he attributes to systematic attention to all the requirements of good farming; to the skill and exactness with which all the operations are performed; to their careful selection of the best varieties of seed, and to the extensive and good use of their barn-yard manure. Nothing is left to casualty or chance. No expectations are indulged in that an unusually favorable season will atone for short-comings or neglect. He alluded to the business-like liberality of the English farmers in restoring to the earth, by means of purchased manures, the elements of fertility exhausted by cultivation, and said that in 1837, the first year in which bones came into general use as a fertilizer, the foreign bones imported were valued at the Custom House at $1,500,000, since which time it is estimated that the amount paid for imported bones alone, amounted to $150,000,000. Since 1841, upwards of 500,000 tons of guano have been used. Mr. Wall believes that the English farmer's rotation of root and grain crops comes nearly to perfection, and that the care which had been bestowed on root cultivation might be called the salvation of England.

AN IMPORTANT HINT.

All farmers are well aware that the knife-bars of their mowers are liable to sudden and repeated breakage after the machine has been run a few years. These breaks are usually exactly similar to those which might have been expected from a bar of cast-iron, although it is well known that only the best wrought iron is used for knife-bars. The same trouble is found in car-axles, and in this case is attributed to the constant jar of the wheels over an uneven track. We imagine that the breakage of mower knives is due to the wear in the hole in the end at which they connect with the pitman rod of the machine. If this rod fits closely, there is no jar at each reverse of the motion, but if there is a motion of but one-sixteenth of an inch it will soon convert the knife back into steel, and it will then continue to break until the connection is made to fit well.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST.

It is a mistake to use low-priced oil on mowing machines, or other farm implements. If the amount to be expended in oil is limited, it is much better to use it all in the purchase of the best oil, and then use the latter in much smaller amounts. If properly used, a very small amount is much better than too much, which often gets under the boxes and loosens them. In this connection we observe that we do not find any more economical grease for gears than pure neat's-foot oil, although it is becoming more difficult to obtain each year. A cheaper article of oil may be obtained, and leather when greased with it will look quite as well for a short time as if greased with neat's-foot oil, but the latter will wear much longer. Like many other things purchased by the farmer, the higher priced is really the cheapest in the end.

REMEDY FOR THE CABBAGE WORM.—A correspondent of the New York Times replies to a man who wants to know how to free his cabbage from the cabbage worm. "Thirty years' experience enables me to tell him. Get what is called shipstuff, or shorts, such as we feed to stock—wheat bran will do as good as the shorts; examine the cabbages before they head; if you see the web of the caterpillar, or holes in the leaves of the bud, put a tablespoonful of the shorts in the head. If hard rains follow, you may have to repeat. The cure is effectual. The worms become mired in the shorts made wet with the dew. The worms seldom attack the cabbages after they are headed."

CATERPILLARS.—There seems to be an unusual quantity of these worms this spring. In some places the foliage of the trees is completely destroyed, and they look as if they had been blighted. Caterpillars have penetrated residences, and it is no uncommon thing to see them on the walls in large numbers. A general war of extermination should be waged.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Germantown Telegraph asserts, giving details, that a smoke-house was built in Eastern Pennsylvania in 1790; that during the past season, in repairing the building, a head of wheat was found embedded in the cap of the gable; that five of the grains thus found were planted, and four of them grew "in bare ground," after having been embedded in mortar eighty-two years.

HOUSEKEEPER.

GOOD BREAD.

"The unpardonable sin is man is from good grain to make poor whiskey; and in woman, from good flour to make poor bread." The latter is a crime of frequent occurrence, and has nothing to excuse it, for it is just as easy to always have sweet, light, wholesome bread, as to ruin one's digestive organs with hot saleratus biscuit, or to disgust one's olfactories with "salt risings." After several years of trying bread receipts, taking advice from other housekeepers and experimenting myself in the matter of bread making, I have finally a receipt that never fails. It may not be new to many Rural readers, but I have never seen it published.

To commence with, good yeast and flour are, of course, essential. If you use dry yeast cakes, have them thoroughly soaked in tepid water. At night, boil half a dozen potatoes, put them through a colander, with the water in which they are boiled. Pour in cold water until the potato water is lukewarm, add the yeast, cover, and put in a warm place over night. You observe that no flour is put in at night. This is the peculiarity of this recipe. In the morning, heat the potato water, stirring constantly, and being careful not to scald it. Stir in flour till it is a thick batter, and let it rise. When sufficiently light, knead in all the flour you can. It is at this stage that kneading is the most effective; so knead it just one hour. Don't say you haven't the time to spare; you had better on that "baking day" make only three kinds of cake, instead of the usual six, or even omit the inevitable "pies" altogether, rather than have the "staff of life" anything short of perfect. After it has risen, mold into loaves, and when light, bake. The result will be bread that is white, with the pure wheaten taste, that can be pressed into one half of its bulk, and will immediately expand to its original size, and when broken apart, can be peeled off in flakes or layers. This is one of the results of long kneading, and is proof that the bread has "attained unto perfection."

It is surprising how few people know really what good bread is. So long as their bread is not positively sour or heavy they eat it, blissfully ignorant that it can be made better.

A few days since a young housekeeper showed me, with evident pride, a loaf of bread of her making, remarking that her ability to make good bread was her one accomplishment, of which she was justly proud. Said bread was hard, dark and coarse-grained. Mr. Rural, what could I say? To the class of housekeepers which she represents, who consider their method of doing anything right, simply because it is "their way," it is useless to try to teach anything; but to those who are trying to learn, the above recipe may contain some useful suggestions.—Rural New-Yorker.

COWS OUT OF FASHION.—The New York Sun says that a company has been formed with a capital of five hundred thousand dollars for the manufacture of butter. A well-known chemist has introduced the plan, and a number of wealthy persons, including several leading men in the butter trade, have purchased stock in the company. The butter is made from fat or suet bought from the slaughter houses, and after passing through certain processes with the necessary mixture of milk and salt, is said to be equal to the finest country butter. The profits are expected to be over one hundred per cent.

We Clergymen

OF Chronic and Acute Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Kidney, and Nervous Diseases, after years of suffering, by taking Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup—the scientific discovery of J. P. Fitler, M. D., a regular graduate physician, with whom we are personally acquainted, who has for 30 years treated these diseases exclusively with astonishing results. We believe it our christian duty, after deliberation, to conscientiously request sufferers to use it, especially persons in moderate circumstances who cannot afford to waste money and time on worthless nostrums. As clergymen we seriously feel the deep responsibility resting on us in publicly endorsing this medicine. But our knowledge and experience of its remarkable merit fully justifies our action. Rev. D. Rev. G. G. Smith, Pittsburg, New York. Rev. Joseph Beggs, Falls Church, Philadelphia. Other testimonials from Senators, Governors, Congressmen, Judges, Physicians, &c., furnished gratis with pamphlet explaining these diseases. One thousand dollars will be presented to any medicine for same diseases showing legal merit under test, or that can produce one-fourth so many living cures. Any person sending by letter description of affliction will receive gratis a legally signed guarantee, naming the number of bottles to cure, agreeing to refund money upon severe statement of his failure to cure. Afflicted invited to write to Dr. Fitler, Philada. His valuable info on costs nothing. For sale by all Druggists.

DIAMOND SPECTACLES.
TRADE MARK.
These Spectacles are manufactured from "MINUTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES," melted together and are called DIAMOND, on account of their hardness and brilliancy.
It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazilian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarizing light.
Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to have fifteen per cent. less heating rays than any other pebble.
They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic aberrations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.
Manufactured by the BERKSER OPTICAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, New York.
A. E. FESNIC, Jeweler and Optician, is Sole Agent for Gettysburg, Pa., from whom they can be obtained. No peddlers employed. Do not buy a pair unless you see the trade mark. [April 10, 1872. 1y
